Action required by Airlines serving KSA Airports

- Please inform all those responsible for scheduling and slots of the new contacts included in this guidance and request that all changes after 0501UTC on 12th May 2022 be sent to ACL.

- Advise ACL of any discrepancies when the SIR is received, and ACL will work to investigate these as a matter of urgency.

Coordination Parameters

ACL will publish details of the coordination parameters, together with information related to all airports covered on its website.

Information can be found under the latest airport info section of the website www.acl-international.com.

Online Coordination System (OCS)

ACL will make KSA Airport schedules available on OCS allowing carriers to access, amend and add flights. Those carriers that already have access to OCS and have all ACL airports option enabled will automatically have the KSA Airports added to their account. If you have selected specific airports only, then you can request that airports be added by sending a request including the username to help@online-coordination.com. Carriers that do not currently have access to OCS can apply by completing the application form found at the following link: OCS Application Form¹

Frequently Asked Questions

Why is ACL becoming the coordinator for KSA Airports?

GACA issued a request for proposal to which ACL responded. ACL was successful in meeting the requirements to deliver the service and have been selected through a competitive tender process.

Who is ACL?

ACL was formed as an independent coordination company in 1992. It currently serves 46 airports in the UK, Ireland, Poland, Luxembourg, Canada, New Zealand, Latvia and the Middle East. It is the appointed coordinator for 14 Level 3 Coordinated airports (including Heathrow, Gatwick, Stansted, Manchester, Dublin, Warsaw, Auckland and Dubai) and provides schedule facilitation (Level 2) at 17 airports and data collection service at a further 15 airports.

3.8 million aircraft movements are successfully coordinated or facilitated by ACL at these airports each year, carrying over 600 million passengers.

Does ACL follow WASG principles when coordinating?

ACL undertakes its duties independently and in a neutral, transparent and non-discriminatory way, as required by the Worldwide Airport Slot Guidelines (WASG). It has a reputation for providing a proactive and efficient service to its airport and airline customers.

Does ACL provide any support in making slot requests?

ACL can accept slots requests either in IATA SSIM format or direct via the Online Coordination System. A guide to SSIM is provided on the ACL website at <http://diyssim.com/GuideToSSIM/> and a simple tool to help write SSIM can be found at <http://www.diyssim.com/>.

What type of operations need to have an approved movement from ACL?

All movements require approval from ACL. Airlines should contact ACL directly using IATA SSIM (Chapter 6 SCR/SMA) format or OCS. General/Business Aviation, Diplomatic and Military requests should contact their handling agent who will assist in gaining an approved slot.

Will ACL be opening an office in KSA?

As part of the tender process, ACL will have representation in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia. This will take a few months to arrange so in the meantime, ACL will be delivering the contract from its Head Office based near Heathrow Airport in the UK. ACL has invested in technology which means that nearly 95% of messages received are processed automatically. Those messages that are not processed instantly will be handled by the team in London and supported by other ACL satellite offices across the world. ACL aims to respond to most messages within three hours during normal UK business hours.

During the Hajj travel period, ACL will have representatives in Jeddah in support.

Who should I contact when ACL is closed?

Urgent requests outside ACL office hours should be referred to AOCC.

Why is the service transitioning mid seasons?

The service transition is triggered by the change in contract which starts on 1st June 2022. To ensure continuity of service, the 12th May 2022 was chosen as a recognisable date in the scheduling calendar.

Who will be my main point of contact at ACL?

Delivery of coordination services for KSA Airports will be managed by Mr Fernando de Freitas and supported by Mr Christakis Christodoulou and Mr Jamie Blethyn. Both can be contacted at ksa_slots@acl-uk.org. Mr Richard Cann, Head of Coordination will also be available to support the team (Richard.cann@acl-uk.org).

Will my schedule changes be processed if I send them to the current coordinator?

Changes made prior to 0501UTC on the 12th May will continue to be processed by the existing coordinator. After this time, requests will need to be sent to ACL for them to be processed. Any request made to any other address other than slots@acl-international.com will not be processed and will not update the airports flight information displays.
